That's good.

[redacted] sure seems to have terrible timing - can't imagine his investors were pressuring for a distribution.

DATE	8/8
TOTAL XRP SALES
Total sold	$5.52M
Actualized MTD, QTD	$15.56M, $33.13M

Q3 '18 Combined Programmatic & OTC XRP Sales: Actual and Projected

last price: $ 0.33

24 hour return: -13.24%

24 hour volume: $362.6M

Overall market cap is now down -8.3% on the day to $220.2 billion, its lowest since November 15th, 2017 as the digital asset markets have lost -18.5% on the week. Bitcoin dominance has increased to 49.1%, highest value since December 19th. Bitcoin fell to a low of $6121 on Bitstamp, though currently trading at $6310 there, and appears as though it will again challenge $6K. While bitcoin previously had seen support south of $6K, retail fatigue continues, and another challenge to the support could lead to a break further, despite some major advances on the institutional front with ICE entering the space. XRP since breaking its $0.42 support has been underperforming BTC on the way lower, with XRP/BTC ratio falling to 0.0000538.
